SUBJECT: CHANGE OF INTERNET PROTOCOL ADDRESS FOR JTA ACCESS

The purpose of this bulletin is to inform Local Workforce Investment Areas (LWIA) that on August 30, 2004, the Internet Protocol (IP) address for the Job Training Automation (JTA) operating system will change.

The IP address is used by your terminal emulation software (e.g. Procomm Plus) to establish a connection between your computer and the JTA database. This update only affects the individuals that connect to JTA through a Remote LAN dial-up (RLD) or Virtual Private Network (VPN) session and utilize the direct IP address to connect to the JTA database. This change will be transparent to any user that utilizes the IP alias "jta.cahwnet.gov" to access JTA. Starting August 30, 2004, the new IP address will be 169.3.14.244, and you will need to ensure that all of your affected computers are updated accordingly. Keep in mind that this change occurs on August 30, so it is important not to change the IP address before that date.

If you use Procomm Plus as your terminal emulation software, to determine if you use the direct IP address (and update the IP address if necessary), follow the steps below:

Step 1—Launch Procomm Plus.

Step 2—Using your mouse, go to File and then choose Connection Directory.

Step 3—When your Connection Directory window opens, there will be a field on the right-hand side called "Host/IP Address." This will show the IP address Procomm Plus is using to connect to JTA.

Step 4—If the Host/IP Address field contains the number "169.3.34.167," change this entry to reflect the new IP Address of "169.3.14.244." Click the "OK" button at the bottom of the Connection Directory screen.

If you have any questions regarding this change or need assistance verifying which IP address you are using, please contact the JTA Help Desk at (916) 653-0202.
